The AIFMD and UK AIFM Regulations

The Fund is an alternative investment fund (“AIF”) for the purposes, within the European Economic Area (“EEA”), of the Alternative Investment Fund Managers Directive (2011/61/EU) (the “AIFM Directive”) and, in the United Kingdom (“UK”), The Alternative Investment Fund Managers Regulations 2013 (the “UK AIFM Regulations”), each as amended and supplemented from time to time. Invesco Capital Management LLC is considered the alternative investment fund manager (the “AIFM”) in respect of the Fund for the purposes of the AIFM Directive and UK AIFM Regulation. The AIFM is regulated as an Investment Adviser (as such term is defined in the US Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended, (the “US Advisers Act”)) by the US Securities and Exchange Commission and has its offices at 3500 Lacey Road, Suite 700, Downers Grove, IL 60515.

The marketing of the AIF in the EEA and the UK may only be carried out pursuant to the rights, and subject to the obligations, of the AIFM under Articles 42 of the AIFM Directive and Regulation 59 of the UK AIFM Regulation, respectively. These require that, at a minimum, the AIFM provides certain disclosures to investors (domiciled in the EEA or, in the case of the UK AIFM Regulations, the UK) before they invest and on a periodic basis thereafter, as well as provide periodic reports on a regular basis to the national competent authority of the relevant country in which the AIF is marketed. In addition, the AIFM Directive and UK AIFM Regulations require that there must be cooperation arrangements in place between the national competent authorities in each of: (i) the jurisdiction where the AIFM is established; (ii) the jurisdiction where the AIF is established (if different from (i)); and (iii) any country (being an EEA member state and, if relevant, the UK) into which the AIF is being marketed. In addition to these minimum conditions, each EEA member state and the UK may impose additional restrictions or conditions to marketing.

Marketing under the AIFM Directive and UK AIFM Regulations requires prior notifications to and, in some cases, approval by the national competent authority of the country in which the marketing is taking place. The inclusion of an offering legend in respect of any EEA member state and the UK does not imply that the notification has been made or is currently in place or that an offering or placement of interests in the AIF has been or will be made to or with investors domiciled or with a registered office in that EEA member state or in the UK. Prospective investors in the Fund can request from the AIFM a list of jurisdictions where such a notification of the exercise of such rights has been made and, where relevant, approval received.

The AIF is not intended to be “pre-marketed” in any EEA member state, as such term is given meaning in the Cross Border Distribution Directive (2019/1160) (“CBDD”). Promotional and marketing activities in a given EEA member state is only intended to and should only take place following a notification being made and, where relevant, the receipt of approval to market pursuant to Article 42 of the AIFM Directive, as described above.

ESG integration considerations

The AIFM’s investment decision-making process is disclosed in the Prospectus² under the heading “Principal Investment Strategies”.

The Fund is passively managed and seeks to track the investment results (before fees and expenses) of the Underlying Index. The Fund employs a “full replication” methodology in seeking to track the Underlying Index, meaning that the Fund generally invests in all of these securities comprising the Underlying Index in proportion to their weightings in the Underlying Index. The Underlying Index is created by a third-party index provider (the “Index Provider”) and as the strategy for the Fund is to track or replicate the Underlying Index, changes to the portfolio of the Fund are driven by changes to the Underlying Index in accordance with its published methodology rather than by an active selection of stocks by the AIFM. Accordingly, the AIFM does not exercise discretion to actively select/deselect stocks. Therefore, across all of the Fund’s portfolio, there is no integration of Sustainability Risks (as defined below) into the AIFM’s investment process. Even when the Fund utilises a sampling strategy to seek to track the investment results (before fees and expenses) of the index¹, ESG considerations are not incorporated into the sampling approach as the Fund’s objective is to achieve the performance of the relevant Underlying Index and decisions driven by ESG factors could be less effective in achieving this goal.

The AIFM has considered the Sustainability Risks in tracking the proposed benchmark. Assessments of Sustainability Risks are not conclusive.

For the purpose of this Supplement, a “Sustainability Risk” means an environmental, social or governance event or condition that the Fund considers could have a material negative impact on the financial value of one or more investments in the Fund.

The investments underlying the Fund do not take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities outlined in Regulation (EU) 2020/852 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 18 June 2020 on the establishment of a framework to facilitate sustainable investment.

Use of derivatives and ESG

The use of derivatives will be consistent with the Fund’s investment policy as set out in the relevant supplement. Currently, ESG criteria are not taken into account when selecting counterparties.

Proxy voting policy and ESG

The AIFM adheres to the Invesco Global Proxy Voting policy. Invesco views proxy voting as an integral part of its investment management responsibilities. The proxy voting process at Invesco focuses on protecting clients’ rights and promoting governance structures and practices that reinforce the accountability of corporate management and boards of directors to shareholders.

Invesco’s good governance principles outline Invesco’s views on best practice in corporate governance and long-term investment stewardship. These principles have been developed by Invesco’s global investment teams in collaboration with the Global ESG team. The broad philosophy and guiding principles inform Invesco’s approach to investment stewardship and proxy voting. These principles are not intended to be exhaustive or prescriptive.

The passively managed funds, such as the Fund, will typically vote in line with the majority holder of active-equity shares held by Invesco. Invesco refers to this approach as “Majority Voting”. This process of Majority Voting ensures that passively managed funds benefit from the engagement and deep dialogue of our active investors, which Invesco believes benefits shareholders in passively managed funds. In the absence of overlap between the active and passive holders, the passive holders vote in line with Invesco’s internally developed voting guidelines. Portfolio managers and analysts for accounts employing Majority Voting retain full discretion to override Majority Voting and to vote the shares as they determine to be in the best interest of those accounts, absent certain types of conflicts of interest.

Likely impact of sustainability risks on return

Inadequate sustainability practices and policies and Sustainability Risks more generally can lead to, among other things, inefficiencies, operational disruption, litigation and reputational damage. The impact of those risks may be higher for funds with particular sectoral or geographic concentrations. All or a combination of these risks may have an impact on the value and/or return profile of the Fund's portfolio. The nature and extent of that impact is necessarily unpredictable, especially in the case of index tracking funds such as the Fund. Sustainability Risks inherent in a portfolio can crystallise in a range of different circumstances, including in normal market conditions, and may have a material impact on the value of the Fund's shares. The impacts of Sustainability Risk are likely to develop over time and new Sustainability Risks may be identified as further data and information regarding sustainability factors and impacts becomes available.
