

Raymond Ma

Chief Investment Officer, Hong Kong and China

Raymond Ma

Raymond Ma is Chief Investment Officer of Hong Kong and China at Invesco, based in Hong Kong. In this role, he leads the investment teams for Hong Kong and China, overseeing the management of China and Greater China equity strategies.

Mr. Ma joined Invesco in 2023. Prior to joining the firm, he established Green Renaissance Capital, a company specializing in green energy investing and contributing to China's carbon net-zero strategy. Before that, he accumulated fifteen years of experience at Fidelity in Hong Kong as a portfolio manager focused on China. He also served as an assistant director in the consumer sector at BNP Paribas Peregrine in Shanghai. Mr. Ma has been in the financial industry since 2000.

Mr. Ma earned a bachelor's degree and a master of law from Fudan University in China. He was an early advocate in ESG investing, holding a council member position at the China Alliance of Social Value Investment and serving as an overseas consultant for Susallwave. Both entities are prominent leaders in China's ESG rating and carbon-neutral business.